Jas. Moore of Chetopa township, candidate for clerk of the Court, was shaking hands here Tuesday.

John Hultine has completed one of the largest and most convenient barns in this section of the country.

John Westby has his crop of corn nearly shucked out, he will have nearly three thousand bushels. Mr. Westby is a rustler and a money maker.

NEOSHO VALLEY.

Wednesday, Oct. 26.—Winter seems to be here in earnest.

W. Boesteler and wife spent Sunday at Mr. Irvin's.

Mr. Huston went to Kansas City last Wednesday evening.

Miss Myrtle Tippet and brother Lee spent Sunday with Mr. Brinegar's young folks.

Mr. Fred Mosler who is here from Washington is having an addition built to one of his houses.

Miss Zora Blackburn, a former pupil of our school, was married last Friday to Mr. Ben Jester of Chanute.

Miss Edna Dickinson of Larned, Kansas came last Monday on a visit to her aunt, Mrs. D. L. Houston.

Mrs. Walton and children returned to their home in Oklahoma last Friday, after a three weeks visit with relatives here.

Our spelling school came off last night, instead of tonight as was announced last week. We thought we would be generous and give up to the speakers and let them score one more victory before their defeat in November.

RURAL.

Monday, Oct. 24.—Weather now fair and pleasant but ground too wet to either plow or gather corn.

The gas Co. are now working a heavy force taking up the old pipe and laying a larger gas pipe line.

Mr. Wm. Flanagan has been losing more of his hogs of late. We lay the cause to feeding slop from the city restaurants which is badly tainted.

Frank Pullen says he is the champion corn husker, husks twenty bushels in sixty minutes then plows two to three acres of ground the balance of the day.

Will Truitt our nursery man is and has been working a large force in his nursery stock, and is now going to build a grafting house; he says he was nearly buried two years ago but is now overtaken by McKinley trade and prosperity.

Dr. Neeley is buying corn to feed cattle, Mr. Wilmuth is going to feed 200 head in the Dr's. feed yard this winter. This will take about all the surplus corn in this vicinity.

Fred Dryden came home last Tuesday for a short visit with his parents.

Fred was with the 6th U. S. Infantry at the front in the Santiago fight, he looks well and says he was not sick a day while in Cuba.

There are rather strange conditions existing in Kansas this fall snow before a frost, cherry and apple trees in bloom, a good prospect for a raise in the price of corn the banks full of money and the Populists sure of defeat on the eighth day of November.

Some time ago there was a party at Mr. Dawson's and some young fellows stole some of B. F. Jarets turkeys and had a turkey roast. Ben got on their track somehow and found the parties and they compromised the matter by the boys paying a good price for the turkeys. It was thought that this ended the matter but last Friday Ben had the parties arrested and they had to appear before Justice Eckley and pay a fine.

If you want to buy or sell anything in the real estate line, rent a house or farm or make a trade of almost any kind, see me.—N. W. Henry, tf

CONSTANCY.

Be brave, dear heart, and be content
To wait till all the clouds go by;
Not far beyond the darkened sky
There lies a rosy firmament,
And here at home for thee the dove
Swings on its hinges evermore.

Through all the summer days, we kept
The flowers for thee with tender care
And he that holds the worlds in air,
Made bright the blossoms while we slept;
He sent his joys in lowly things
And in the roses' blossoming.

And now a flush of crimson lies
Upon the maple's leafy crest,
While southward from its summer nest
The last belated swallow flies;
And one would touch thy garment's hem,
Whose sweet eyes hold past days in them.

Some day, beloved, we will go
And seek again our cottage door,
And walk the woodland paths once more
Together where the blue bells grow,
And where the birds in leafy halls
Sing all the day till darkness falls.

Love waiteth always at the side
Of its beloved in sun and gloom,
Faithful as Mary at the tomb
Of him that on the cross had died;
Our own is ours forevermore
When love is waiting at the door.

Emerson's Son as an Author.

Ralph Waldo Emerson's son, Dr. Edward Emerson, himself a boy when Louisa Alcott was a girl in Concord, has written an article on "When Louisa Alcott was a Girl," which the Ladies' Home Journal is about to publish. Doctor Emerson gives a new view of the author of "Little Men"—as a mimic, and as the central figure of every dance and merry-making in old Concord.
